Week 3 Alternative Text - the Town Mouse and The Country Mouse retold by Michael Morpurgo

Week 3 is based on this retelling of the famous fable about the Town Mouse and the Country Mouse by Michael Morpurgo.

A bit of background on fables for parents

What is a fable?

A fable is a story that features animals, plants or forces of nature which are anthropomorphised (given human qualities). A fable always ends with a 'moral'. This is the lesson that is intended to be learnt through reading the story.

One of the most famous fables is The Hare and the Tortoise. In this fable, both animals are anthropomorphised in that they can speak and are competing against each other in a race. The arrogant hare stops to sleep halfway through the race because he is convinced he has enough time to do this and then rejoin the race and win it. Meanwhile, the slow but determined tortoise keeps going and wins while the hare is asleep.

Most of our best-known fables are thought to have been written by a man called Aesop, who is believed to have been a slave in Ancient Greece around 550BC.

How do traditional tales and fables differ?

A traditional tale is a story that has been told and re-told for many years, also known as a fairy tale (for example, Cinderella or Little Red Riding Hood).

How do fables and myths differ?

Both myths and fables are stories, but myths focus on gods and heroes while fables are stories about animals, objects and forces of nature. Myths aimed to explain the world while fables were intended to provide a moral lesson.
